Queries necessary to retrieve the search terms, their variants and phonetic equivalents have been executed in the preparation of this report. Our analysts will search for usage of a term as a first or second word in the trademark in those databases that provide that capability. Print media do not contain cross-references; therefore, it is not possible to locate a term anywhere except in the first position of the mark.

A list of our common law library sources is enclosed in the Appendix of this report. All of the Miscellaneous Goods sources were consulted for this search, as well as many of the resources listed under Miscellaneous Services.

Together, We Can Help Keep Our Food Supply Safe.

Best Sanitizers has become a leader in the field of pathogen reduction and manufactures the highest quality hand soaps, hand sanitizers, surface sanitizers and dispensing options available. In addition, Best Sanitizers offers cleaning and sanitizing equipment including boot scrubbers, footwear sanitizers, doorway foamers, drain foaming accessories, and proportioning equipment.

Surface Sanitization

Best Sanitizers was the first company to achieve a D2 rating for an alcohol/quat based surface sanitizer. Their line of Alpet[R] surface sanitizers include Alpet[R] D2 Surface Sanitizer, Alpet[R] D2 Quat-Free Surface Sanitizer, Alpet Quat No-Rinse Sanitizer and Alpet PAA. Both Alpet D2 and Alpet D2 Quat-Free are ready-to-use, alcohol-based surface sanitizers and cleaners, ideal for both wet and dry processing plants. As a food contact surface sanitizer, both kill 99.999% of pathogens in 60 seconds on pre- cleaned surfaces, including non-porous waterproof gloves. They also kill 99.9% of pathogens in 10 seconds on pre- cleaned, non-food contact surfaces, including non-porous waterproof footwear.

Alpet D2 Surface Sanitizers 58% IPA/quaternary ammonia formula is widely known within the food processing industry as an effective surface sanitizer.

Both Alpet D2 and Alpet D2 Quat-Free are NSF listed, Kosher, Pareve and Halal certified. Alpet[R] D2 Quat-Free Surface Sanitizer was created for processors in need of a surface sanitizer without quaternary ammonium. Its 70% alcohol formula (62.5% Ethanol / 7.5% isopropanol) is approved under the Washington State Department of Agriculture Organic Food Program.

Footwear Hygiene

Without a footwear cleaning and sanitization program, facilities are at risk of cross-contamination. Best Sanitizers offers solutions to achieve maximum pathogen reduction on footwear. Sanitization is not effective if footwear is not first cleaned. The BSX Boot Scrubber Series offers custom footwear cleaning solutions to suit the needs of any plant.

Once footwear is cleaned, food production workers can sanitize with the HACCP SmartStep[TM] and HACCP SmartStep2[TM] Footwear Sanitizing Systems. Both units use compressed air to deliver an atomized spray of Alpet D2 or Alpet D2 Quat-Free to footwear soles. Each worker receives a fresh application of sanitizer for consistent, measurable results every time.

Hand Hygiene

The goal of hand hygiene is to reduce pathogens on the hands to the smallest number possible, making it crucial for processors to use quality products, such as Best Sanitizers 'Alpet hand soaps and hand sanitizers. Alpet[R] Q E2 Sanitizing Foam Soap is pH balanced and formulated with emollients to help keep hands healthy, even with repeated use. For maximum pathogen reduction, Alpet[R] E3 Plus Hand Sanitizer Spray is 99.9999% effective in killing tested pathogens. As a spray, it goes on light and saturates areas of the hands where germs commonly hide. Additionally, Best Sanitizers, Inc. offers on-site hand hygiene trainings, demonstrations, and educational webinars.

Content:	Air Lease Corp 2016 Investor Meeting - Final FD (Fair Disclosure) Wire LOAD-DATE: May 19, 2016 Air Lease Corp 2016 Investor Meeting - Final FD (Fair Disclosure) Wire May 19, 2016 Thursday Length: 19310 words Publication-Type: Transcript
	...It can cover the domestic United States, it can certainly cover Canada and even parts of -- the northern parts of South America.
	But as you see, that graph and that line doesn't extend to some of the further cities that you'd like to be able to cover if you had a plane with more capabilities. Again, the same seat availability, but a plane with more range really creates incremental revenue opportunities. And the ability for you to use that aircraft in different parts of your fleet becomes very significant.
	So you can see the evolution of what happens when you add Sharklets. You can see the evolution of when you have a neo with a new engine, and you start to get new cities in there. And then when you add the A321 LR, which has an incremental auxiliary fuel tank, which we helped launch this past summer, you can see where you can actually take a narrow-body jet out of New York and cover parts really into Central Europe.
	It's pretty impressive what the technology allows you to do. And so again, fuel savings is one, but the capabilities that you actually get with operating your business increased meaningfully with these new aircraft types.
	So then what are the other costs of having a brand new plane versus a mid-life plane. You have to pay incremental fees for noise. This is a chart that actually shows what happens with the noise that's actually generated out of the current-generation engines and how it actually evolves into the new generation. So there are savings that you pick up actually on noise that you might not be thinking about in the context of fuel.
	The environment. This is one that is -- certainly something that John has been talking about for years now, where sort of the next big issue is really the environmental issues and what the emissions are as these airplanes fly over countries in Europe as Asia deals with lots of problems with sort of pollution in the air. These new planes are more fuel-efficient. They have lower NOx emissions and creates, obviously, a much greener environmental footprint. And so there is going to be continued pressure on airlines to make sure that they are operating modern equipment so that they are being good actors in the environment.
	Other values of new aircraft. There's new product and passengers like new product, the slimline seats. You have Space-Flex for the galleys to be more efficient with the way you're using the aircraft. [Smart - Lav] that take up less space. The places that's doors are actually being configured on the aircraft, which allows for increased seats to be put into the plane, which when you're able to put increased seats into the same exact plane, you have increased revenue opportunities.
	And so here's a chart that really sensitizes what happens when you add incremental seats, offset with what the yield that you pick up. These are the NPVs of those incremental seats over a 15-year period, which obviously creates significantly increased revenue for the airlines.

So I guess -- we like brand new planes, we like mid-life planes, we like end-of-life planes. There's just different mission requirements that each of these planes fit, and so it's a little bit too overly simplistic to say fuel up, new plane is good. Fuel down, mid-life plane is good. There really are parts of every airline's fleet that these fit into, and that's really what I think our business of fleet planning really focuses on, trying to optimize which plane fits with which airline at what point of its life.

So with that, I want to move the discussion to Jay Chen, who's our Executive Vice President and Managing Director of Asia. There's nobody who's written more leases into People's Republic of China than Jie Chen. And I think [lots of] interesting perspective for you on China.

JIE CHEN, EVP, MANAGING DIRECTOR OF ASIA, AIR LEASE CORPORATION: Thank you, Ryan. China has been a very hot subject. So let me talk about China. Everybody knows that China has -- facing some economic problems and they are shifting from manufacturing economy to a consumer-based economy. There are lots of challenges. This chart shows that aviation sector has been growing very strong. And if you look at the chart, the aviation sector growth outpaced the GDP growth, and GDP is slowing down but aviation sector keeps going.

AURORA - The town of Aurora is located on the shores of Cayuga Lake and its residents want to do all they can to preserve and protect the lake's beauty.

It is for this reason that the Outreach, Mission and Education Committee of the United Ministry of Aurora have been holding a series of programs that deal with environmental concerns.

"We like our lake and want to do all that we can to preserve it," said church parishioner Ann Mathieson during " Smart Steps for Clean Water," a presentation given by a professional from the Cayuga Lake Watershed. "Our lake has not changed in 30 years and we want to keep it that way."

During the program, Sharon Anderson, Cayuga Lake Watershed Steward, shared tips and advice on what steps people can take to preserve and protect the lake.

A big concern, according to Anderson, is the transportation of foreign and overgrown plants and weeds that live in the lake.

"Some aquatic plants are good for the lake," she said. "They provide essentials for the different wildlife and insects, even the fish. They provide oxygen to the water and even absorb wave energy. It is when these plants and weeds become overgrown that they start to wreak havoc. Plants go bad when there are just too many of them."

Anderson explained how all watersheds flow into another and ultimately into the oceans.

"The Cayuga Lake Watershed flows into the Lake Ontario Watershed and from there into the Atlantic Ocean," she said. "We encourage people to use the lake. If you use the lake you are much more apt to take care of it."

In a previous church program, members took a boat trip onto the lake with Professor Tom Vawter and learned the different reasons that water testing is important.

"The results of the testing came back pretty well," said church parishioner and committee member Rebecca Ruggles. "We were pleased with the results."

Ruggles said that future programs will be held on environmental topics and that members of the public are encouraged to attend.

SMART-STEP LAVS

"We want to open our doors to share our church with anyone who would like to join us," she said. "Even if they do not join our parish, they are more than welcome to attend any of our events."

CircusTrix names Eiroa as new CEO

CircusTrix, the world's largest developer and operator of indoor active recreation centers, announced this week the appointment of Fernando Eiroa as CEO.

The company, founded in 2011, has expanded rapidly, adding 50 new locations in 2018 alone. Currently, the company, which also franchises its active recreation centers, has over 260 locations in the U.S. and over 320 total locations globally in nearly 20 countries.

Eiroa served as the CEO of Parques Reunidos, a leisure park operator with over 60 locations in 14 countries, until last year. The company generated more than $650 million in revenue in 2018. Before that, Eiroa served as the president and CEO of California-based Palace Entertainment, the largest U.S.-based subsidiary of Parques Reunidos.

"As the demand for experiential entertainment continues to increase in the U.S. and worldwide, Fernando's level of leisure industry experience and global background makes him a unique leader to guide CircusTrix to even greater success," Allen Rodriguez, executive chairman of the CircusTrix board of directors, said. "We are particularly thrilled to benefit from his expertise in building world-class experiences as CircusTrix continually enhances how our more than 40 million annual visitors enjoy our parks."

Eiroa is taking over for Case Lawrence, CircusTrix's founder. According to a press release, Lawrence will remain "actively involved" in the company as a significant shareholder, advisor, and chairman of the board's real estate and innovations committees.

"I am excited to join the CircusTrix team, and I look forward to leading the company as it continues to achieve its strategic objectives in the experiential entertainment industry. CircusTrix is the premier new trend in this industry based on fun, physical activity that is directly relatable to social media-minded Gen Z," Eiroa said. "After 15 years in the traditional leisure park space, I appreciate the effort and expertise required to build the exciting recreational concept of the future. CircusTrix

to analyze health

Medic.life has been working since 1999 to perfect technology for an AI toilet that monitors key health and wellness indicators, tracking data and identifying trends without interrupting users'daily routines.

Medic's products are currently in late alpha testing and moving into clinical trials. The company hopes to make the products commercially available to care providers, facilities and individuals in two to three years.

"The digital health revolution is here and making it progressively easier for people and their health advisors to get vital information so they can help avoid becoming ill and needing treatment," said David Hall, Medic's founder. "We are creating the means to be proactive instead of reactive with health."

The Medic Lav " smart toilet" currently gathers four health metrics passively during each bathroom visit and uses AI technology to analyze them, according to a press release. The company is currently developing 15 additional health metrics.

The toilet is motion-activated and recognizes each user. Technology being developed has the potential to analyze human waste and other bodily functions to identify abnormal trends when symptoms show up, the press release says.

In addition to technology designed to monitor health, the toilet also integrates a bidet, heated seat, air dryer and fume extractor. An app called the Medic app allows participants to access their personal health trends and can provide alerts via a smart phone, watch or computer. Data and trends are encrypted and HIPPA compliant, and users can choose to have the information sent to their doctor, family and health care providers.

"Medic has the potential to be a multi-billion-dollar participant in the health care industry," Hall said. "Medic's toilet-based infrastructure is revolutionary in its ability to prevent health problems instead of curing them."

Dominion Energy approves

for Mobile School Pantry

The Dominion Energy Charitable Foundation recently approved a $50,000 grant to support the expansion of the Mobile School Pantry.

The Mobile School Pantry began in 2014 with one school. Today it serves 68 schools across the state of Utah. Dominion Energy has worked with the Mobile School Pantry, providing both funding and volunteers, since 2015.

"We never want anyone to go hungry, especially children," Ron Jorgensen, Dominion Energy Vice President of Western Pipeline Operations and Utah Food Bank board member, said. "When children are hungry, they can't concentrate on learning. We believe in the Utah Food Bank's mission of fighting hunger statewide. Supporting the Mobile School Pantry gives us an opportunity to help those in our own backyard."

Last year, 340,000 individuals received food from the program, 169,000 of which were children.

"We are incredibly grateful to Dominion Energy for their support of the Mobile School Pantry program," Ginette Bott, Utah Food Bank President & CEO, said. "As we continue to expand this important program to Utah and Washington counties, their support means we can have an even greater impact on the 1 in 7 Utah children who face hunger."

The screenshot shows a website with a blue header. The main text in Arabic reads "بدون کتاب، با لذت بردن انگلیسی" (Without a book, enjoy English) and "یاد بگیر." (Remember). Below this, in English, it says "EXPERIENCE SPEAKING TO NATIVES" followed by a small British flag icon and "SPEAKING CLASS FROM". At the bottom of the page, there are five cartoon illustrations of happy children of different ethnicities and ages, all smiling and looking towards the right.

Confirming the success of the A320 Family for Low-Cost airlines

Wizz Air (WIZZ) has taken delivery of its 100th A320 Family aircraft, an A321ceo, at an event in Budapest Airport. The event was attended by Mr. Levente Magyar, Hungary's Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mr. József Várdi, WIZZ's Chief Executive Officer, Dr. Andreas Kramer, Airbus Vice President Sales Eastern Europe and Central Asia, as well as Mrs. Jessica Villardi, Pratt & Whitney Regional Vice President, Europe, Russia & CIS.

"Wizz Air started to operate its first Airbus aircraft 14 years ago. Today Wizz Air has become a true success story, and we are proud to have played a major role in this journey, providing the most efficient aircraft with the lowest operating costs combined with unbeatable comfort in the widest single-aisle cabin in the skies," said Eric Schulz, Airbus Chief Commercial Officer.

The aircraft carrying a special livery to mark the occasion is powered by IAE engines and configured with 230 seats. It is also equipped with "Smart Lavs", an optimised lavatory design providing more cabin length for more seats and improved seat recline for more comfort.

The aircraft will be deployed on WIZZ's extensive regional and international network covering 141 destinations across 44 countries in Europe and beyond.

WIZZ will take delivery of 268 additional A320 family aircraft over the coming years.

COMMON LAW RESOURCE LIST

Corsearch common law research covers an exhaustive and unrivaled list of data sources to meet your trademark clearance needs. We are proud of our reputation as the leading provider of common law data, and work tirelessly to maintain our advantage and earn your trust.

While the Internet is increasingly a valuable common law source, Corsearch searches thousands of online sources, periodicals, databases, directories, books, CD-ROMS and proprietary compilations that are often not accessible through the Internet. Through strategic alliances with partner companies, and in cooperation with the world's leading information providers, Corsearch has assembled and maintains a resource library that exceeds the industry standard and meets the uncompromising demands of the trademark professional.

Our common law library continues to grow as industries change, mediums for information evolve and the demands of the trademark professional adjust. You can be assured that the dedicated professionals at Corsearch will always be one step ahead, maintaining our standing as the leading source of common law information for the trademark professional.

The following list is representative of the information sources included in our common law research report. The following table provides examples of the types of information sources covered, but is by no means an exhaustive or complete listing.
